Game Law.

Editor of Sentinel:—For the benefit of poachers and those who kill game out of season, I respectfully request you to publish the following provision of our Statute, which includes all the amendments of last winter.—Let it be understood that any infringement or violation thereof will be strictly inquired into and the provisions promptly enforced, by those who take an interest in killing game in season, and in preserving what little now remains in this State:

SECTION 9. No person or persons, except Indians, shall kill, destroy or take, or pursue with intent to kill, destroy or take, by any device, contrivance, or means whatever, any woodcock, between the first day of March and the first Tuesday of July, or any grouse, prairie hen or chicken, between the first day of January and the 15th day of August, or any partridge, between the first day of February and the first Tuesday in September, or any quail, between the first day of November and the first Tuesday in October in each and every year; and no person shall at any time take, or catch by any means of any trap, or snare of any description, any quail, grouse, prairie hen or chicken, except upon his own premises.

SECTION 10. Every person who shall engage for sale any woodcock, grouse, prairie hen or chicken, partridge, or quail, or shall have either or any of said birds in his or her possession or custody, which shall have been taken during the time when the killing or taking of the same is prohibited by the last section, shall be deemed guilty of killing the same within the meaning of said section, and shall be liable to the penalty hereinafter provided, and the possession of any of said birds within the time when the taking and killing of the same is prohibited by law, shall be prima facie evidence that the same was taken or killed within the time of such prohibition.

The above law can be enforced by entering a complaint before any Justice of the Peace, against the person infringing the same; and upon conviction half the penalty goes to the informer or complainant. All persons interested in the preservation of game, are requested to preserve the above law, and take an interest in the same.

The law in regard to the preservation of fish, will be published to-morrow. C. R.

SHADE TREES IN PHILADELPHIA.—The legacy of five thousand dollars, left to the city of Philadelphia by ELLIOTT CRESSON, has been paid over. The bequest is for the purpose of planting shade trees in the streets of the city. From this wise investment there will be realized three hundred dollars a year—enough to pay for planting fifty or sixty trees annually. Mr. CRESSON directed that the trees should be of native growth, and not "ailanthus, or other foreign trash."

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE OF 1861.—The next Electoral College, chosen in November, 1860, to meet in February, 1861, will—if Kansas should be admitted at the approaching session of Congress—consist of 306 votes, 154 of which will be necessary for a choice for President. The non-slaveholding States will have 186 electors, and the slaveholding States 120.

THE DETROIT AND MILWAUKEE RAILWAY.—The Detroit Daily Advertiser of Saturday last has the following notice of several improvements about the premises of the Detroit & Milwaukee Railway Company in Detroit:

Happening upon the grounds of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway yesterday, we were gratified to notice an addition to their former unexcelled facilities for making passengers comfortable and cleanly. Under their extensive shed they have fitted up a large force pump and convenient troughs, which are for the use of emigrants and such other passengers as choose, where they may bathe and cleanse themselves from the dust and heat of long travel. It is also contemplated to add dressing rooms—rough, but comfortable—adjoining. To realize how grateful such an opportunity to wash, proves to the tired and dusty emigrant, it is only necessary to see one or two hundred standing around for their turn, and to see others—men, women and children,—fairly reveling in these capacious troughs of pure cold water. It must also be borne in mind that this is the only opportunity of the kind enjoyed by the emigrants after leaving Castle Garden until they reach their western homes. As no other road offers these facilities and comforts, it is not wonderful that a large share of Western emigration is now passing over this road. We noticed a large number of well clad, intelligent looking Norwegians there yesterday, on their way to La Crosse, Wisconsin. We are informed that about three hundred emigrants daily are passing over this road, while heretofore there have been almost none. We are gratified to note this sure indication of their prosperity.

MT. VERNON.—The amount of money already paid to Mr. Washington sums up to nearly $170,000, leaving a little over $40,000 yet to raise to complete the purchase of the Mt. Vernon estate. A statement having gone abroad that all the purchase-money was in the hands of the treasurer is an error. Such is not the fact. We state this upon the best authority. Even when this sum is raised, the work—as we understand it—is not half accomplished, for not only a very great outlay for immediate repairs will at once become necessary, to save the property from utter decay and ruin, but the Association will have to continue their labor in collecting for its complete restoration, which must necessarily take large sums of money. Mt. Vernon, with nothing to take care of it, would be like the elephant drawn in a raffle—a puzzle to know what in the world to do with it. We entertain not the slightest doubt that, with such an efficient organization as Miss Cunningham has created, all the requirements of the Mt. Vernon Association will be met by a generous, prompt, and patriotic public.

While looking over the names of the lady officers, as Vice-Regents, we were not a little surprised to find our neighbor State, Maryland, unrepresented. Surely the fair daughters of Baltimore ought not to be the last in the field of this meritorious enterprise, in which South Carolina so nobly pioneered the way. Texas, too, the only one remaining besides, should certainly have a hand in this scheme, so honorable in its character, and so ennobling to Woman's efforts. May we hope soon to hear of both of these States entering the lists for their part in the Mount Vernon prize.—Philadelphia Press, June 30.

The Balloon Atlantic.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., July 4.

La Mountaine arrived here this morning with the balloon Atlantic. He announces that as soon as the balloon is repaired, he will make another voyage from Chicago eastward.

THE GREAT AERIAL VOYAGE.

Departure of Wise and his Associates—Description of the Balloon and Apparatus—Express Packages, Letters and Papers Among Convents—Preparation of the Aeronauts for the Trip—Scenes on the Ground and Particulars of the Ascension.

From the St. Louis Republican, July 2.

A very large number of the citizens of St. Louis witnessed a novel scene yesterday—that of the ascension of two balloons from Washington Square, corner of Clark Avenue and Twelfth street.

The men who have embarked their interests in this undertaking, are all of them gentlemen of excellent judgment—and two of them, Professor John Wise and Mr. John La Mountain, are experienced aeronauts. Mr. O. A. Gager, the third, furnished the means by which the experiment has been made.

THE GROUND

Was not the most favorable that could have been selected on some accounts. It is central, it is true, but it admitted too close a view of the proceedings inside the enclosure, from without.

It was proposed to defray the expenses of the gas used for inflation, by the sale of tickets at the gate, but the inside spectators were scarcely a unit when compared to the hundreds without.

INFLATION.

At 4 o'clock, P. M., we entered the grounds, and found the inflation far advanced. It was the intention to fill the balloon to half its capacity, or 50,000 cubic feet of gas, leaving plenty of room for expansion in the rare atmosphere of the upper regions. This was likely to be accomplished before 6 o'clock, P. M., and the flow of gas was decreased.

WHAT THE CAR CONTAINED.

A peep into the boat or car, revealed a strange medley. The most noticeable articles was an Express bag, labelled as follows:

"T. B. March, Agent United States Express Company, No. 82 Broadway, New York.

"This bag is sent from St. Louis, by the aerial ship Atlantic, July 1st. Please forward to destination from landing of balloon by Express, as above directed.

C. W. FORD, Agent, St. Louis."

Besides this business-like package, there was $30 worth of provisions furnished by Guenaudon, sundry bottles—supposed to contain champagne and other refreshing beverages—blankets, overcoats, gloves, anchors, flags, and cards of mercantile houses and candidates for office at the coming election.—There were also packages, letters and newspapers, a telescope, thermometer, barometer, and all the necessary scientific paraphernalia of ballooning.

BUSINESS PROGRESSING.

Time flew, and half-past five o'clock arrived. Expectancy was on tip-toe, and the balloon was pronounced sufficiently inflated—orders were given for the ring to be cleared—and two men were posted at each cord connecting with the net work of the balloon (so numerous were these cords that occupation was thus given to more than one hundred strong-armed men)—the sand-bags were unhooked from the meshes—and the buoyant vessel rose from the ground. The aeronauts stepped into the ring beneath it, and Professor Wise made a few appropriate remarks, stating that he was not certain of success, as the ascension depended as much upon the friends around him as upon the aeronauts themselves. He requested those in present charge of the balloon to follow orders, which they all agreed to do. Their air ship was then towed to some distance from where it had been inflated, and the boat was brought into the ring and made fast. Above the boat was suspended the car, capacious wicker basket, and about 1,000 pounds of ballast were placed in the boat and basket, in addition to the articles they already contained.

THE BALLOON CAST LOOSE.

Mr. S. M. Brooks, an aeronaut of this city, now unrolled his balloon, the "Comet," which was soon swaying in the air, impatient for a start into the blue ether. Mr. Brooks had volunteered to act as escort, and his light basket car was soon attached, and in the space of half an hour from the time the inflation commenced, the Comet, with Mr. Brooks in his car, was mounting upward in beautiful style. It was pronounced by all a very fine ascension, and Mr Brooks was highly complimented by the now ready to follow in the airy track. The eyes of the crowd rested on the Comet until its lone passenger was no longer visible, and then turned with eager gaze on the Atlantic and her passengers, about to be cut loose from the earth and wafted away to the Eastward.

PASSENGERS OF THE ATLANTIC,

Professor John Wise, scientific director, ascended into the basket, suspended midway between the boat and the mouth of the balloon. Messrs. LaMountain, Aeronaut, O. Gager, Navigator, and Wm. Hyde, reporter for this paper, took their places in the boat. All arrangements being announced complete, and everything ready, the largest aerial ship ever built ascended with four passengers, amidst the cheers of the spectators, many of whom fully expect to hear of her landing on the Atlantic seaboard. And if this should not be accomplished, those who are least sanguine, confidently expect that a greater distance will be traversed than has ever been known before in the science of ballooning.—The most noted achievement recorded in aerial navigation, as regards distance traveled, is the ascension of Mr. Clayton, made in the year 1833 in Cincinnati.

On the occasion referred to that intrepid aeronaut was nine and a half hours in the air, and descended in Western Virginia, three hundred and fifty miles from the Queen City. Mr. Wise and his associates have only to beat this exploit to carry off the palm in success and daring.

DIRECTION OF THE BALLOONS.

The ascension of the Comet took place at a quarter to 7 o'clock P. M., and that of the Atlantic at 5 minutes to 7—just ten minutes apart. Both ascensions were grand sights to behold, and the whole affair was a very superior order of this style of entertainment.—The course of the Comet was for a few minutes almost due North, after which it passed off Eastward, and was soon out of sight.

The Atlantic did not drift so directly for the North, but gradually attained an Eastward course. The direction of the balloons, so far as they could be seen, was several points North of East.

(The Balloon landed at Adams, Jefferson County, N. Y., on the afternoon of Saturday—passengers all safe.—ED. SENTINEL.)

A SAD SACRIFICE TO SHORT SKIRTS.—One of the Dress Reform women at Auburn gave the following pathetic history of her sufferings in the cause of short skirts:

Her friends to the number of thirty or more left her, and she felt alone in the world—When she passed through the streets of Syracuse, her native place, no gentleman would touch his hat to her, but on many occasions actually avoided her by popping down an alley, or running up a neighboring stairway. When she passed through the streets the sly inuendoes, the indelicate allusions, the winks and shrugs of the men on the sidewalk, went to her soul like steel, but she had resolved on liberty or death, short skirts or nothing, and regardless of the loss of friends she clung to the Bloomers. She did so because it gave her freedom of locomotion, capacity to expand, health, strength and all the desirable constituent of a robust and powerful physical organism.

A kind-hearted man can hardly read this without a tear of sympathy, yet the Albany Argus is so brutal as to speak of the lovely sufferer as a "Bob-tailed Martyr."

News from Kansas.

LEAVENWORTH, July 2.

The Times publishes a communication from the Gold Region, June 17th, considerably later than previous advices. Also, a private letter from Horace Greeley, who says there is no mistake about the existence of gold in paying quantities.

The last three days working of Defries, Barker & Shotwell's claim produced $1,700, estimating the gold worth $18 per ounce. $100 a day to a sluice is considered a fair average of operations for other parties.

It is calculated that 300 sluices will be in operation by the first of August. New and rich discoveries are being made every day; large prospecting parties are being organized for a thorough examination of the Mountains, as far as Medicine Bow on the North to the great basin west. Activity prevailed at Denver City, and the effect of the late prostration had entirely disappeared.

Discoveries of rich solid gold bearing quartz had been made. The express which left here was crowded with passengers.

NEW YORK, July 5—3 P. M.

The Fall River steamer Bay State met with an accident near Hurlgate yesterday. Two persons were injured—a passenger and the engineer.

WASHINGTON, July 5—3 P. M.

Hon. W. O. Good, a member of the last Congress from Va., died near Boydtown on Sunday, of consumption.

THE CITY.

Original.

Address to Mr. D. A., Walker's Point.

Oh David! shame upon your face,
To bring on me so much disgrace,
I think I'll have to leave this place,
In grief to die.
Why did you me so much despise?
Who looked on you with glowing eyes,
And Lount Anne to be the prize,
Oh how I sigh!

Take pity yet, 'tis not too late;
You know my shame, also my fate,
Before the knot is tied, create
A loving smile.
The gloom dispel, and say you're mine,
Then Julia's eyes like pearls will shine
With rapture bright; almost divine,
Not e'er beguile.

Till death shall part us here below,
But joys of Hymen only know,
And drink of Nectar, it shall flow
In ample bowl.
You speak of Cupid's happy bond—
Which mortals here can't understand,
Shall they join that heavenly band,
Holy and soul.

Then joys more pure, the Lamb to greet.
And not as man and wife to meet,
But lay our crowns at Jesus' feet
With heavenly muse—
Can Julia's stream you're bound to sweep?
Leave off with Jessie say farewell,
And let me to my father tell
The glorious news. J. H.

July 4th, 1859, Independence Day.

Celebration of the National Anniversary.

SUNDAY.

By a freak of the calendar, Fourth of July "came within one" of Sunday this year, and a great deal of patriotism had to be bottled up for one "blessed" day. Towards the close of the Sabbath a few young men of "defective piety," drew the corks from their enthusiasm, and the occasional bang in the otherwise quiet city, told how the effervescence was exploding, and gave promise of what was in store for the morrow. Most of the city churches were well attended, and the pastors, with one or two exceptions, made appropriate allusions in their discourses to the Anniversary.

THE FOURTH.

Monday was ushered in with "jubilant clamor" of bells, and the thunder of the Milwaukee Artillery. Everybody seemed to wake with a positive determination to evince their patriotism in some way. Flags were displayed from all the principal buildings and prominent stores, and the Newhall was furbelowed with more than we had time to count. East Water street put on a sylvan look, and immense branches all along its more business quarter waved shadowy invitations to the thirsty crowd to come and drink. Even the "Meteorological clerk," as the day advanced, announced his intention of celebrating, by getting up a most auspiciously temperate atmosphere for the season.

The number of strangers arriving by the trains and by private conveyances soon rendered the further prestige of the occasion anything but equivocal.

THE PROCESSION.

At 10 the military and civic procession moved, followed by a great concourse of people, through the principal streets. The Light Guard were preceded by a corps of juvenile drummers, that attracted a great deal of attention. The Fire Engines were mounted on platforms and drawn by horses, each apparatus being tastefully festooned with flowers and wreaths, and ornamented by the addition of a number of young ladies, whose pretty faces shone through the foliage and ribbons, like so many roses. The "Catholic Total Abstinence Society" made an imposing display. The Draymen came out strong, and the line of carriages, filled with the Municipal Officers, was lengthy enough to suit even a livery man.

At 11 1-2 o'clock, the main part of the procession marched to the Court House Square, where a platform having been erected, J. G. MCKINDLEY proceeded to read the "Declaration," using, he said, a copy printed in 1776. It was exceedingly well delivered, and the audience, the greater part of whom, no doubt, knew it by heart, stood it through manfully.

Judge HUBBELL then addressed the people in a national strain, for some time in the place of Mr. ARNOLD, the orator for the occasion, who was non est. Other speakers followed.

THE BANQUET.

The dinner at the Newhall was not unworthy the day. A great numbers sat down to the groaning board and judging from the animated attack, were not altogether insensible of the celebrated virtue of Newhall dinners.—The list of adjectives having long since been used up in doing justice to the cuisine of this establishment we hardly know how to attempt the oft repeated task now. Suffice it to say the viands were most patriotically christened after being artistically compounded, and continental soup, and beef a la '76 excited the patriotic palates of the wondering guests to that enthusiastic point where mastication became an ovation and the annihilation of euphoneous edibles a pleasant tribute to the spirit of liberty.

THE REGATTA.

Owing to some misunderstanding the regatta, advertised to take place at 5 o'clock, did not come off, to the disappointment of a numerous crowd that had congregated in expectation of seeing the race. An animated competition of muscle took place, however, among those in the swarm of boats about the bridge and several races were indulged in for no other prizes than the acclamation of the spectators.

THE FIRE-WORKS.

Staging was erected on Main street at the junction of Michigan, by the committee, for the pyrotechnic display in the evening.—Between 9 and 10 P. M., the exhibition commenced. Rockets, fire balloons, Bengolese lights, port fires, wheels, revolving stars, and brilliant globes of variegated fires made up the display, which was witnessed by thousands of people and was conducted most successfully throughout.

INCIDENTS, ACCIDENTS, ETC.

As might have been expected, the lager saloons, and soda fountains knew no respite from "dawn till dewy eve," and a thriving business was kept up along East Water street. ALCOTT, prince of soda, could not have sold less than two thousand glasses of his carbonated delicacy, and MELMS supplied lager enough to have extinguished every fire but those of '76.

We were much amused during the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Mr. MCKINDLEY, with the protestations of an individual among the crowd, who called himself a "sensible American," and objected to the reading of the document on the ground that it was "trumping up old grievances, unnecessarily picking at a healed sore—fanning the National antipathy to a country with whom we were on the best of terms, &c., &c." He kept up a running protest during the delivery, and his remarks being addressed to those around him, in anything but an inaudible voice, some one suggested to him that he should take the stand. No notice upon the suggestion, and not heeding the repeated injunction to "play up" uttered sepulchral from some one in the rear, he received an accidental boost from hands unknown, and his sensible remarks discontinued themselves.

Fortunately, nothing occurred to mar the festivities of the day. Accidents were unusually few. One young man, while on the corner of Oneida and Water streets, had his thumb shattered by the premature discharge of a pistol. A gentleman at the Newhall had a bullet shot through his coat, but as the gentleman failed to write out an account of it for the Wisconsin, from which we take the sad fact, we are unable to state whether the member was a mental loss or not; and a lad tumbled into the river, when he learned that the Regatta was not coming off, but was fished out again. The arrests were also few.—General order prevailed and sobriety seems to have been the rule.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Sunday School children of the Asbury M. E. Church, enjoyed themselves, with their teachers and friends, on an excursion to Oak Creek. They had a fine time, came back to the dusty city in excellent spirits, and were apparently benefitted, both physically and mentally, by the sail.

A number of private parties left the city, for pleasant groves, and not a few celebrated the day, along the lawns of the lake shore, in pastoral festivity. Balls were given in the evening, at a number of the German public houses, and the Theatre, at Market Hall and the PEAK Family, at the Albany, were well attended.

The announcement of a race at the Cold Spring House drew a great many people in that direction in the afternoon. The trot advertised to come off between T. C. COLT's sorrel horse and POWELL's brown colt, seems to have been rather a badly managed affair. We heard one individual say it was a "one horse concern altogether," a remark not intended to be particularly clear perhaps, but exhorted by a high flow of animal spirits.

PRESENTATION OF A PRIZE CUP.—Mr. SCOVILLE was presented with the prize cup at PHIL. LAWRENCE's Bowling Saloon, on Monday (4th.) The following little interchange of sentiments accompanied the testimonial.

Mr. LAWRENCE presented the cup with the following neat and appropriate remarks:

MR. SCOVILLE:—Sir:—I know of no better time to form a new friendship than at the beginning of our national year. Your skill, as has been exhibited on the alleys before us, reminds us of him who, one against ten, won for us the cup of liberty. Receive the cup, and may it be full of happiness and content, as it was for him of honor and immortal renown, and may your soul be every time you drink from it, filled with a love of country and liberty, as that which to-day awakens in the heart of every American citizen, forget the trivial rivalry against which you had to struggle to gain it, and think only of the day when you have received the emblem of your victory. May your cup be always full of joy; drink from it when adversity meets you, and when your star of destiny hangs in the heavens, look and go hence rejoicing.

MR. SCOVILLE'S REPLY.—Friends:—I, as the happy recipient of this token of skill, receive it not so much for its intrinsic value, as a token of friendship and good will. Your happy allusion and simile, the occasion, and time of presentation, all combine to fill my mind with the most pleasing associations, and which will be long remembered. May the kind tokens of regard which you have so felicitously expressed, be returned upon each of you ten-fold, and may we all live to enjoy many happy anniversaries of the day we now celebrate.

FIRE.—Between 11 and 12 o'clock, Monday night, a fire broke out in the two story frame building, owned and occupied by Mr. CHARLES LANE, as a Grocery store and dwelling. The flames spread so rapidly, that it was some difficulty the family escaped. Our Firemen, notwithstanding the fatigues and excitement of the Fourth, were early on the ground, and though they could not save the building in which the fire originated, they prevented the spread of the flames. Mr. LANE had some $1,500 insurance on his building and stock, which will cover about half of the loss.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE POLICE.—Our Milwaukee Police earned a good mark for themselves on the Fourth of July. Under the direction of their excellent Chief BECK, they accompanied the procession, and, though the throng of vehicles, horsemen and pedestrians, was very great, kept a clear space for the march of the Military, Firemen, &c. In the evening, at the fine exhibition of Fireworks in front of the Newhall House, they were equally instrumental in keeping back the crowd from the staging, and thus preventing accidents. Their conduct, all through the day, was all that could be wished.

PRIZE FIGHT.—A prize fight for $100 a side came off somewhere outside of the city limits yesterday, between two notorious rowdies, JOHN GALLAGHER and "Buffalo Joe," in which the former was declared victor, "Buffalo Joe" having "put in" a foul blow. There was a large attendance of the "Parsimmon Boys" and "Heavy Guard." Chief BECK, on hearing of the affair despatched a posse of police to the spot, but they arrived too late to be of any service.

BOARD OF SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS.—A regular meeting of the Board of School Commissioners will be held at their room, in Excelsior Block, this, Wednesday evening, at half-past 7 o'clock. The Executive Committee are requested to meet at the office of the Secretary, at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

WE had the pleasure, yesterday, of examining several highly finished sketches taken by our fellow-citizen, FRANZ HOLZHUECHER, during the recent Editorial Excursion to Grand Rapids. They are of the highest style of art, and will shortly appear in "Leslie's Illustrated paper.

IF THERE IS A MOTHER by the name of "JULIA MACMITT" in the State of Wisconsin, it may be of some interest to her to know that her son ALFRED W. PRIOR, now in "South Fownal," Vermont, sends us a letter wishing to hear from her.

RETURN OF THE CADETS.—The Milwaukee Cadets, Capt. HIBBARD, who went to Chicago to spend the Fourth, returned yesterday afternoon. They looked well and were highly pleased with their reception and entertainment at Chicago.

CALED WALL, the City Auctioneer, has a great sale of furniture and dry goods on Thursday morning July 7th, at 10 o'clock.—His store is directly opposite to SENTON BROTHERS great mammoth wholesale dry goods house.

BROOK TROUT.—We are again indebted to Conductor BRIDGEMAN, of the Milwaukee & Minnesota R. R., for a mess of very fine brook trout.

A FIRE BROKE OUT in the office of the Editorial room of the Banner, yesterday morning, but was extinguished before much damage was done.

AN INFALLIBLE DETECTOR OF ALTERED, SPURIOUS, AND COUNTERFEIT MONEY.

With a fac-simile of the genuine Notes before you, how can you take the bad?

No Written or Printed Description of Bank Notes, no matter how carefully Compiled, can ever be made an Infallible and Perfect Protector.

Since the discovery of the art of Engraving on the copper-plate, and the consequent facility of multiplying impressions, it has been the object of all the parties interested to secure those bodies against the danger of counterfeiting. Hitherto, all the ingenuity of the artist in the construction of bill-heads and vignettes, has been accomplished, upon the principle of rendering the imitation of genuine Bank Notes contained in the very first publication of the kind ever issued from the press. The plan of this work has received the highest encomiums from the Bankers and Financiers of the country, as a protection against false by fraudulent paper money, as well as for the safety and administration of the whole system of the paper currency of this country, which is of such vast importance and influential relations to the security of paper money.

NOTICE.

THERE IS A HOTEL IN MILWAUKEE known as the American House, kept by P. Kane & Son. As for good living, good manners, servants and location for the traveller, it is not surpassed, even by the Astor or Niblo Houses. But to look at the dirty bills in the different papers throughout our State you would suppose, from the strange wording of some of the Milwaukee bills, that it was the only Hotel in Milwaukee but west of New York City, or in other words, the only good living one in the world.

TELEGRAPH!

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Four Days Later from Europe!

ARRIVAL OF THE VANDERBILT

LATER FROM THE SEAT OF WAR!

The Allies Beseiging Mantua!

NEW YORK, July 3.

The steamship Vanderbilt has arrived from Havre and Southampton, bringing London and Liverpool dates to Wednesday, the 22nd ult., four days later than those received by the Arabia.

There are no battles to report from the seat of war, but the allies are beseiging Mantua, and another decisive battle may soon be expected.

The Austrians have issued at Mantua forced paper currency of £5,000,000 sterling.

The Austrians have removed their headquarters to Villa Franca, midway between Verona and Mantua. They have abandoned Lonato, on Lake Garda, and also Castiglione and Montechisso, which recent positions they have occupied in great force and had strongly fortified.

The French and Sardinian troops occupy Brescia, and the Emperor Napoleon had advanced from that position on the Austrians.

Kossuth had embarked for Genoa.

Many other Italian cities had pronounced for the Italian cause.

Gen. Garibaldi marched on the 20th ult., from Salo, on Lake Garda, towards Descenzano, but was repulsed by the Austrian force. He has pushed his outposts to Balldore, in the direction of Bordio, which latter place is occupied by the Austrians.

Victor Emanuel has refused the dictatorship offered him by the Commissioners from Bologna, in pursuance of his determination to decline the annexation of any part of the States of the Church.

The Austrian official account of the losses sustained during the battle of Magenta has been published. The killed are stated at 61 officers and 1,302 soldiers—total, 1,363.—Wounded 218 officers and 4,136 soldiers—total, 4,365. Missing 4,000 soldiers. Total killed, wounded and missing 9,713.

Advices from Egypt say that the Pasha of Persia has ordered the suspension of the works in connection with the canal across the Isthmus of Suez.

The French Consul had protested against this interference.

A dispatch from Berlin says that six Prussian corps d'armee, besides the guard, are to be mobilized, and three others kept in reserve to oppose Russia if necessary. All the other corps will be concentrated on the Rhine, and only a sufficient number of troops left in the provinces to garrison the towns and fortresses.

The various bulletins from the seat of war present the following as the state of affairs:

The Sardinian army is in position before Brescia in line with the French troops.

The cities of Fano, Fossombrono, Sest and Ancona have all pronounced in favor of the national cause. Another dispatch says that the Austrians had re-occupied Montevole, on the 17th, in considerable force.

The report that a French corps d'armee had occupied the Valtcline is untrue. A Lombard corps under some of Garibaldi's officers was stationed there.

Two thousand Papal troops had been sent from Rome to restore order in Piniga.

A collision had taken place at Corsica between a detachment of the Papal troops and the inhabitants.

A despatch from Turin, dated the 17th ult., says that the Emperor Napoleon ent

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the City of Madison, in the Assembly Hall of the Capitol on Wednesday, the 31st day of August next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be supported by the party at the ensuing general election; and to transact any other business that may properly come before it.

As the subject of selecting delegates to the next National Convention may be entertained and acted on by the Convention, it is suggested that the people in their primary caucuses, and the district conventions make such expression as will intimate to their delegates and the State Convention, the general sentiment of the State on that subject.

Each Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

It is recommended that District Conventions for the selection of delegates be held throughout the State, on or before the 25th day of August, and that committees make early calls for that purpose; and it is especially urged that every district be duly represented in the Convention.

Supporting the Constitution.

The engagement with Mr. WENDELL, by which a certain portion of the profits of his business as Government Printer was to be devoted to sustaining Mr. BUCHANAN'S organ, appears not to have sufficiently assured continued vitality to that journal. Its new proprietor has already gone a-begging among the officials at Washington, for means to sustain this daily eulogist of the Administration.—He requires fresh aid in his great yet unremunerative work. A correspondent of the Washington States says:

"Yesterday, in passing through the General Post Office Department, we found an emissary from the office of Brig. Gen. Bowman, seemingly clothed with all the authority of official sanction, demanding, upon the threepayman's principle of your money or your—office, that each and every clerk employed should subscribe to a levy of six dollars, ostensibly as a year's subscription to a weak, embecile, and objectionable newspaper, but for no other purpose than to bolster up and sustain the fortunes of one engaged in the publication of a paper so devoid of interest, ability and enterprise, that it cannot command the appreciation and support of the public; hence the efforts to sustain it by a resort to a species of despotism as disgusting and as odious to any gentleman as anything that you can conceive of."

The States sarcastically intimates that this proceeding cannot be supposed to have the countenance of the high-minded author of the Fort Du Quesne letter, or of the Postmaster-General who wrote the WESCOTT epistle, denouncing forced exactions of public money from subordinate officials. The dismissal of Mr. O'FLYNN, the late Postmaster of D-troit, for exacting money in a similar way, to support a party newspaper, is also referred to as confirming the same supposition. This ardent Democratic journal very rationally adds:

"We write these comments with no pleasure. A duty to the Democratic party exacts every word we have said. Our candidates throughout the country cannot resist the charge of corruption, if a person bearing the relation that the proprietor of the Constitution assumes to occupy to the Democratic party, is permitted to commit, in the name of Democracy, so humiliating and corrupting an outrage."

The Douglas Letter Explained.

We find the following telegraphic despatch traveling the circuit of our Southern exchanges:

"JUDGE DOUGLAS' POSITION.—New York, June 25.—A special despatch from Washington, and believed to be authorized, says that Judge S. A. Douglas intends to support the nominee of the Charleston Convention and that that he stated in the Dorr letter was, that he will not himself run on a platform he cannot endorse, but that he will adhere to the Democracy against the opposition.

By whose authority this was placed upon the wires, or why it was sent to the Southern Press only, must be left to conjecture. The Charleston Courier, in publishing it, thinks it both laudable and characteristic of Mr. DOUGLAS to send an apology straightway on the heels of his insult to the South.

The Aiton Democrat, however, explains the explanation in a different way—holding that DOUGLAS intends to spurn both platform and nominee unless they square with his "great principle." Says the Democrat:

"It only remains to be said in case Buchanan should prove successful, that not only would Douglas oppose the nominee of that Convention, but he would spurn its platform from beneath him—and whether Douglas did carry both of these things, or not, it is still quite certain that both would receive such treatment at the hands of the Illinois Democracy. Our party expects to support the nominee and platform of the Charleston Convention,—with us to promise, that rule is always and shall square with Democracy and the Cincinnati Platform in 1856."

The New American Encyclopedia.

We are indebted to STRICKLAND & Co., for the Sixth volume, just published, of this great national work. It commences with "Congin" and ends with "Education," and in the arrangement of the matter, the accuracy and the amount of the information conveyed, and the literary reputation of the principal contributors, stands unrivalled. It is, indeed, a "Popular Dictionary of General Knowledge," and ought to find a place in every Library, public, or private, in the land. The editors, GEORGE RIPLEY and CHARLES A. DANA, are deserving of all praise for the able and faithful manner in which they are doing this work, and the publishers, D. APPLETON & Co., New York, merit the thanks of the reading public for the handsome dress in which they have clothed our American Encyclopedia.

Remarkable Balloon Trip.

The three Æronauts who left St. Louis, in the balloon Atlantic, on the evening of the 1st instant, landed safely in Jefferson County, N. Y., about dark on Saturday, having made the distance, between eight and nine hundred miles, in twenty-six hours. This is probably the longest balloon voyage on record, and the trip was a very rapid one. Whether any practical good is to come of it, remains to be seen.

Fire at Oshkosh.

From our own Correspondent.

FOND DU LAC, July 2, 1859.

DEAR SENTINEL:—This morning at 3 o'clock the steam planing mill of JONES & Co., at Oshkosh, was discovered to be on fire, and before the engines could get to playing it was past being extinguished. A large amount of lumber in the yard was burnt, belonging to PAIGE, BIGGER & HILL, HAY & CLARK, and others.

The fire crossed the street and destroyed three houses owned by Mr. CLARK, also Dr. BLAKE'S, Mr. HARRINGTON'S, and two or three others, among which was the Episcopal parsonage; the Episcopal Church, close to it, was saved by great efforts. The houses burnt were wooden dwellings, none very large.

Men had been at work in the planing mill late that night, and it is thought fire had been left by them unobserved. I am not able to ascertain particulars concerning it today. The above has been communicated to me by Mr. SHERWOOD, clerk of the steamboat Pearl.

As this is too late for to-day's mail it can not be put in Monday's paper, and as no paper will be issued the day after the Fourth, it cannot appear in the Sentinel till Wednesday, the 6th, by which time it will seem rather old. NYM CRINKLE.

A GROWING TIME.—Genial showers, hot days and muggy nights, during the past week, have produced a marked change in the character and prospects of the crops, and saved many kinds of vegetation from the danger threatened, by the previous cold drouth. From present appearances, crops, grains and grasses will mature the present season, with a greater degree of perfection in this part of the State, than ever before witnessed.—Neenah Conservator, July 2.

SINGULAR HALLUCINATION.—An old man who said his name was Jesus, entered the Mechanics' and Farmers' Bank of Albany, on Monday, and demanded $10,000, which he claimed was justly due him, having been stolen from under Niagara Falls, in 1808, and threatened, unless the money was immediately forthcoming, to call upon the entire British army to get it at the point of the bayonet. He was insane.

FRUIT.—If there comes no more frost this summer, there will be considerable fruit of all kinds raised in this county. The late frost did not do the damage that was feared at the time.—Grant County Witness.

A SUPPLEMENTARY LETTER.

PART FIRST.

A Visit to the Home of the Supposed Dauphin—The Oneida Indians—A Blind Girl.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FOND DU LAC, July 2, '59.

DEAR SENTINEL:—My correspondence to you the present season has been from towns on, or directly connected with the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad; and before leaving this branch of travel, it may be well to here collect a few notes from it, that escaped my other letters.

Coming up Fox River from Green Bay, I paid a visit of a day to Mrs. MARY H. WILLIAMS, widow of the late Rev. ELEAZAR WILLIAMS, whose right to the throne of France—in the event of a movement to restore it to the Bourbons—was an interesting subject of discussion in Europe and America for a long time.

She lives four miles above Depere, up on the bank of Fox River, at one of its pleasantest spots. She has no neighbors within a mile, but seems to think that an advantage.—Her family consists of a young Indian woman, who is a full-blooded Menomonee, named—well, I can pronounce it, but defy anybody to bring it down to English orthography: it means Over the Hill. Also a pretty little half-breed, seven years old, named JOSEPHINE ROSALIE JOE—no relation to John Anderson my Joe. Mrs. WILLIAMS brought them up, and of course they are well educated and agreeable. Mrs. W. also is half Menomonee, her mother being of that nation, and her father a Frenchman, Mr. JORDAN, who both live at Neenah.

Miss Over-the-Hill is manager of the farm, and is a 'strong-minded woman.' They have no man in the family, seldom employ one, and are the most independent women I ever knew, quite comfortable and contented. Everything about the house is just as neat and clean as it can be.

MRS. WILLIAMS is a noble looking woman, forty-seven years of age, though apparently much younger, with hair as black as a raven. She conversed with me in a very ladylike manner, and much to my edification. After her marriage, while yet a young lady, she spent a good part of her time in Washington: was gallanted by Presidents JACKSON and VAN BUREN; went into society with WEBSTER, CLAY, BENTON, CALHOUN, JOHN QUINCY ADAMS, and other great statesmen and their ladies, in those glorious days of the American Congress. And JOHN RANDOLPH, with his Indian blood that he prided himself so much upon, must have looked pale beside her well tinged cheeks—fresh from the dark forests of the North-west, where she had always lived, and where she has lived ever since.—Mr. WILLIAMS, however, has passed but a small part of the time here, since then, his visits to her being short and far between.—He has lived in New York State, where he died last August. His portrait hangs in her parlor; he was nearly thirty years her senior. She has a great number of books, of his collection and authorship, and many rare antique works; the latter mostly came down to him from the ancient WILLIAMS family, of Deerfield, Mass., a household of whom were surprised in the night by the Indians, some of them killed and some taken captives,—a well known incident of one of the early wars in New England, between the colonists and the savages.

This is the most interesting pile of literature I know of in Wisconsin, for those who like to ponder over—

> "Old legends of the monkish page,
> Traditions of the saint and sage,
> Tales that have the rhyme of age,
> And chronicles of old."

But unless you are a man of the Press, or a distinguished literary character, you need not hope to see these books if you should visit her: she has been so annoyed by persons leaving them in disorder, that she will politely but firmly decline admitting you to her library. She gave me a few curious old pieces for the Sentinel's library. Travellers seldom go to see her, as her house is not easy of access.

No allusion was made, by either her or me, to the question of her late husband being the Dauphin. I thought it might be a relief to her, to see one visitor who would not be curious to find out what she would have to say on the matter.

She has one son, a young man, living near Oshkosh. The Mocclesfield Courier and Herald, an English paper, thinks there is a possibility that one of the results of the present war in Europe may be a thorough investigation by France, of his pedigree, with a view of returning to the ancient Bourbon rule. He has no hope of such a thing himself, or he would get his life insured, for he stands a better chance of being struck by lightning a few times.

Adjoining the Williams' grant, is the Oneida Indian Reservation. It is twelve miles long and about nine wide. The lands these Indians occupied in Oneida County, N. Y., were purchased of them, and they were sent here about the year 1826. For many years they progressed toward civilization, employed themselves in agriculture and manufactures, and increased in number. But facilities opened for their obtaining cheap liquor, which turned them in the retrograde, and they are now a worthless set: as their Chief, DANIEL BREAD, told me, "they are lazy, indolent, idle, and wont work at all"! Their houses are so badly out of repair that they suffer in the winter; doors hanging on one hinge, windows broken, fences rotten, fields growing up to underbrush. From sleeping in their open shanties, and from frequent exposures in drunkenness they are continually having severe colds, turning into consumption at last. Their Chief told me that three out of four of the deaths among them are from consumption, and that the deaths outnumber the births two to one. If the Good Templars would send a missionary, to inculcate among them a taste for good lager beer, instead of the filthy drugged whisky that has ruined them, their condition might be improved some. Not that I am an advocate for lager beer, any farther than its being the least hurtful form of a great evil that many will indulge in, some way or other.

There are, however, a few of these Indians, who are industrious and respectable. DANIEL BREAD is one of these, an intelligent man of good judgment, but not much influence.

Certain speculators, whose adjacent property would be rendered more valuable if these Indians were further off, and who could then perhaps get hold of their improved land at much less than its value, mean to use their influence with the Government to purchase the Reservation of the Indians, and remove them to some other section of the country—solely from a motive of ameliorating their condition. It is amusing to notice in what a philanthropic strain they talk about it.

Well, it's nearly midnight, but I must tell of one thing else. One evening when strolling over the beautiful prairie near this city, (Fond du Lac) I took shelter from a shower in a house where I found one of the most remarkable children in the world. It is a little blind girl, nine years old, named EMMA JANE KENDALL. Not more than one in five hundred, of educated ladies, can entertain a person in conversation as well as she does. Her voice is sweet as a bird's song, her language the choicest, without the slightest hesitation or effort that good speakers often make in selecting it as they go along, and her enunciation almost faultless, sweetened with a continual smile.

She has always been entirely blind, yet any object whatever that we understand only by sight, she seems to fully and accurately comprehend, and expresses herself concerning it as if she was looking right at it. She is sure she knows just how everything and every person looks that she has been brought in contact with. She has been taught all that children of her age usually are, at the Blind Asylum at Janesville, and will return there in September. It is a pleasure to think I shall meet her there next Fall. Her education and perfectly lady-like manners, say a great deal for that institution. She reads in books printed in raised letters, about the size of the Sentinel's date letter (not the large head-letter) published for the blind, in Boston. She passes her fingers over the lines and reads as fast as any person ought to.

There.——

"The iron tongue of Midnight had told Twelve," and it is well for the reader that it brings on Sabbath hours, or my epistle might be prolonged past all endurance. I'll have to finish it the next time, but can't leave little Miss KENDALL so abruptly. I was about to speak of her sense of touch, which in blind people is always acute, and with her is wonderful to the last degree. But if I should tell of the evidences she gave of this, you might well doubt the whole story: so you would best go and see her yourself if ever at Fond du Lac; she lives with her grand-parents, two miles out of town, on the Oakfield road. But you needn't express the affection for her that you will be very apt to feel, for there is a small chance that she will take such a fancy to you as she did to NYM CRINKLE.

Mons. Blondin's Great Feat.

When we reached the scene of Mons. Blondin's exploit, about a mile below the Falls, yesterday afternoon, at half past three o'clock, an immense crowd of people thronged the banks of the river on either side, for some distance above and below the cable. The end on the American side was in an enclosure known as White's Pleasure Grounds, which are much frequented on account of the admirable points of viewing the Falls on the one hand and the Suspension Bridge and river scenery on the other. A thousand or more people paid admission to the grounds, which would afford good stand points to witness the feat for many thousands, and Mons. Blondin here gave one of his tight rope performances prior to undertaking the seemingly hazardous passage. A band of music enlightened the scene and aided in dissipating the feeling of terror and awe with which the undertaking was surrounded.

On the Canada shore an enclosure was formed between the road, which at this point runs along the precipice a couple of rods from the brink, within which the end of the cable was secured. All around were stagings, erected to enable people to get a good view of the affair, but the entrance charges were so exortionate that few availed themselves of the facilities provided. In the immediate vicinity were booths for dispensing edibles and drinkables, with a circus side show or two, but were not very extensively patronized, the cadaverstic attractions of Mons. Blondin overpowering the ordinary curiosity of a promiscuous crowd, which was not entirely so large as we anticipated, the total number of spectators on both banks not exceeding ten thousand. While the vast audience, ranged round the grandest amphitheatre man ever exhibited his puny skill and courage in, were waiting, the excitement growing momentarily more intense, Blondin was capering before an audience in the grove on White's Pleasure Grounds. Sporting man betted on the result of his performance, the odds being in his favor. The bands of music in attendance played as if they were trying to blow their brains out, and the roughs had a muss or two by way of amusement, to pass off the time.

The cable is two inches in diameter, and nearly six in circumference. It was firmly anchored at each end, and was guyed by smaller ropes stretching at regular intervals on both sides to the shores, with stay ropes running perpendicularly to the water's edge from the cable and firmly fastened to rocks. The guys were made fast to trees on the bank, and from an inequality in fastening, drew the cable slightly from a straight line. The depression of the cable at the centre from the fastenings on shore was about seventy-five feet, though still a hundred feet above the water. The banks are not over two hundred feet in height above the river at the brink of the perpendicular part, the ground gradually rising, on both shores, to about fifty feet higher. The distance across is over one-fifth of a mile. All who have been to the Falls will readily understand from our brief description of the situation, the peculiar and exciting nature of the exploit.

While waiting for Blondin, the little steamer Maid of the Mist, with numerous passengers, passed down beneath the cable to her wharf, on the American shore. At precisely five o'clock, Mons. Blondin appeared at the Cable, on the American side. From the opposite shore he appeared like a child. He is a blonde in complexion, only 140 pounds in weight, though sinewy and agile as an athlete. His balance pole weighs just forty-five pounds. Making his bow to the crowd with Gallic politeness, amid a salvo of hurrahs and bursts of music, he stepped firmly upon the cable, and began to descend the inclination, rapidly at times, then slowly, until about two hundred feet out, when he sat down, lay at full length upon the rope, stood upon one foot, and performed other tricks of the rope dancer.

The rope betrayed his presence upon it by a slight tremor only. There was no swaying, notwithstanding a strong wind blew down the gorge. When about one-fourth the way over, he again sat down, and waited for the Maid of the Mist to come up beneath him, when he dropped a cord to her deck, and drew up a small bottle of wine, which he drank, then cast the empty bottle again and continued his course. The sun was glowing and fervid, and he advanced directly towards it, which was a serious embarrassment as it dazzled his eyes. He was dressed in flesh colored tights, and his girdle and coronet, of glittering paste, shone in the sunlight with extreme brilliancy.

As he gradually approached the Canadian shore, he grew into man's proportions. He stepped along firmly and calmly, and came rapidly to the shore, where he was greeted with cheers, and conducted to a platform adjacent, where most of the Buffalo representatives of the press were seated. He partook with his friends of refreshments furnished by Mr. Kavanagh, of the Great Western Hotel, and then addressed the crowd, stating that a collection would now be taken up for him, when he would return across the cable. He was received with the utmost enthusiasm, the daring exploit safely over, and appeared as cool and unconcerned as though the feat was of ordinary moment. He was fifteen minutes crossing, including all stops after leaving shore. After about half an hour's delay, he again appeared, and stating that he would cross quicker than any one could go round by the bridge, boldly set out on his return. Going back was easier than coming, as he had the sun behind him, instead of glowing in his eyes. He stopped only twice returning, and was but seven minutes from bank to bank. The echoing cheers testified to the feeling upon his safe return from a feat perilous in the extreme, despite the seeming safety and ease with which Mons. Blondin performs it.

The exploit will be repeated on Monday afternoon, and those who desire to witness one of the most thrilling sights in the world will have an opportunity, and a holiday for that purpose.—Buffalo Commercial, July 1.

HOW THE INDIANS MAKE WHISKEY.—The Apache Indians have a mode of making whiskey which would appear novel to the manufacturers of that article in the Ohio Valley.—The firing up process is rather slow; yet these Apaches seem to get liquor which makes a good "drunk" come. The process, according to a correspondent of the Arizonian, is as follows: The corn is first soaked for twenty-four hours, a hole is then dug in the ground, generally in a wigwam, and some dried grass laid at the bottom; on this grass the corn is placed and a layer of grass over it. Four or five times a day warm water is sprinkled over the corn, and at night the family sleep on it to increase the warmth of the corn and make it sprout quick. At the end of four or five days the corn is all sprouted; it is then dried and pounded fine, put in a kettle and boiled for five hours; when cooled, it is mixed with sugar and flour, and left to ferment for twelve hours, when it is ready for drinking. Although not rank to the taste, and fiery, its intoxicating power is very great, and when an Indian has a quart or two aboard, he don't care a copper who is President of the United States.

MINING IN SHULLSBURG.—At the Shullsburg mines, two million pounds of mineral have been sold already this year, most of it within the last four weeks. About a million more has been raised, and will be taken to the furnaces. Shullsburg will realize for her lead crop this year at least $100,000.—Galena Courier.

THE MERCANTILE COURSE AT THIS College is advisedly estimated as the most extensive, thorough, practical and modern, to be found, and every precaution has been taken, that, for the acquisition of a business education complete to the most minute particular, it shall, as heretofore, have positively no equal.

The student conducts, in the most approved style, the following business books, which with their correspondence transactions were modelled at great expense for this College only, by eminent bank experts actually engaged in the various departments represented, viz: Banking and Commercial, Bank Note, Bank, Hotel, Manufacturing, Lumber, Compound Co. GRADUATES ASSISTED TO SITUATIONS.

Emboldened by the success which has attended the progress of the Institution, the President has secured the services of that old favorite

ALBERT MORTON,

The Celebrated "Maine" Penman.

Who will teach that simple and exquisitely beautiful system of Penmanship which is fast superseding the older methods.

NOTA BENE.—The Teachers and Lecturers attached exclusively to this Institution are purely practical business men, and eminent lawyers, and the plan of study is so arranged that the Graduate must of necessity have acquired the precise practice of actual business life.

No certificate, nor introduction could more powerfully commend an unknown or unried young man for a situation, to our favor, than a diploma from this excellent College. See testimonial presented by the Merchants of Milwaukee to Mr. Salom, catalogue, page 23. One of the new large Catalogues should be read by everyone anxious to invest his time and money to the best possible advantage. A copy will be forwarded free, on application to

PEACE AND WAR.

BY JOSEPH BARBLE.

On fair Sardinia's fields and streams
The tender spring light lay;
The tranquil earth was bathed in beams
Soft as the sunlight of our dreams—
This was but yesterday.

The tinkling bells of grazing herds,
The hum of busy wing of birds,
The herdsman's carol gay,
Rose like a sweet, spontaneous psalm
Toward the blue heaven, so pure and calm—
This was but yesterday.

On Lake Maggiore's breast of light
The fisher spreads his rings of white
To seek his shining prey;
In olive-grove and vineyard fine
The peasant pruned the tree and vine—
This was but yesterday.

God seemed to smile on all the land,
Its fairy vales, its mountains grand,
Its people bold and gay;
Peace arched the clouds with shining bow,
Peace bevelled the earth below—
This was but yesterday.

To-day the mad Brigand, War,
Storms through those scenes on flaming car—
The peasants, where are they?
Through grove and vineyard sweep the guns,
And from the Press of Slaughter runs
The Wine of Life to-day.

The herdsman's hut, the trim chateau—
What marks their site? A burial glow,
Or pit of fiery spray!
And, ah! in place of tinkling bells,
The air is rent with furious yells
And hissing shot, to-day.

The olive-groves are falling fast
Before the sabre's deadly blast—
Fit victims of the fray;
For, oh! what should the olive do,
When Prince, for whom its branches grew,
Is crucified to-day.

Sons of Malta.

OFFICE OF THE GRAND COMMANDERY OF THE NORTH-WEST, I. O. S. O. M. PATRIARCH TENT, Chicago, June 20th, 1859.

To the Sons of Malta of the United States, Greeting:

A Grand Excursion under the auspices of the Members of the Independent Order of Sons of Malta, will leave Chicago, on the morning of Thursday, the 21st day of July next, for the beautiful Falls of Minnehaha, near St. Paul, Minnesota. Ample arrangements have already been made for the reception of a large number of the Order, and their friends who may honor us with their company.

Circulars have already been sent by committees appointed for that purpose to all the Railroad and Steamboat Lines, East and South, requesting a reduction of their passenger rates, and the issue of Excursion Tickets to Saint Paul and return, good for thirty days, thus giving the members of the Order and their friends participating in this beautiful trip, ample time to enjoy the many and interesting attractions in the vicinity of Minnehaha, including St. Anthony's Falls, Minneapolis, Fort Snelling, the Cave, &c.

We cannot, of course, in a circular of this kind, describe the pleasure to be derived from such a trip, but can only assure our friends throughout the country that it cannot be equalled on the continent, and that every endeavor will be made by committees already appointed for that purpose to secure the comfort and enjoyment of such as may join in the excursion, and may safely promise them a hearty and cordial welcome. We trust that your Lodge will take immediate action on the subject and advise the Chairman or Secretary of the Committee of Arrangements, how many we may prepare for, from your place.

We trust we may see you, one and all, with your ladies and friends, and in "GOOD CONDITION."

GENERAL WASHINGTON'S TENT.—A writer in the Jersey City Courier, states that some thirty years ago, the New Yorkers were preparing to celebrate the Fourth of July, and by a voluntary courtesy one of his descendants—perhaps the present John A. Washington—sent the General's Tent that he had used during the Revolutionary War, to New York, to assist in the celebration. The General's body servant brought it and bore a letter to the N. Y. Committee, asking that some attention should be paid him, which was done.

The writer then states: "The tent was pitched in the Park, where the writer of this saw it. Shortly afterwards he went up the Hudson River on a steamboat, and this servant was on board, and told me some of the habits of General Washington during the war. He had a fixed hour for rising in the morning, and going to that part of his tent, where his breakfast was to be prepared for him. He would enter this place, and take a chair and seat himself by the breakfast table in his morning gown, with the Holy Bible before him, and read until breakfast time, and when his man would say to him—'General, your breakfast is ready,' the General would draw out of the book a silk ribbon that was bound with the book, and place it between the last pages that he had been reading. The servant then brought his boots, which he would immediately draw on—throw off his morning gown, and put on his military coat, mount and his horse which was ready at the door. Then would commence the labors of the day. This is a true account of the camp life of General Washington during the Revolution."

WHY A SHIP IS CALLED "SHE."—Some heartless wretch, who should be punished by being tied to a post within six inches of kissing distance of a pair of bewitching "cherry ripe" feminine lips, with the certainty of never reducing that number of inches between him and bliss, says—"A ship is called SHE because a man knows not the expense until he gets one—because they are useless without employment—because they look best when well rigged—because their value depends upon their age—because they are upright when in stays—because they bring news from abroad, and carry out news from home."

SEAT OF WAR!!

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

At STRICKLAND & CO.'S.

This Map comprehends the whole region of country on which the present war will be waged.

THE STATES WHICH FIGURE ON THE Map are Piedmont and Lombardy in the South, and south of these, Parma, Modena, Tuscany, Lucca, and Rome. Venetia and the Tyrol States. On the north we have glimpses of Switzerland and the French on the west the Atlantic Ocean, and on the east the Adriatic. The war will evidently be confined within these limits. The territory comprehends a radius of 300 miles. The capital of Parma, Modena, and Tuscany, though not quite as large as the capital of New York, contains as large a population. The capitals of Lombardy, Venetia and Sardinia are from its direct or indirect sway of Austria. Lombardy, which is part of the Austrian empire, and which is in dispute, is the most densely populated part of Europe. Its capital city, Milan, is not quite as large as Philadelphia. A railway connects Venice with Turin. The Piedmontese army is composed principally of Sardinians. Most of the Austrian Railroads from Alessandria and Milan to Turin are in Piedmont, so that, in the event of the Austrians retreating, they will destroy the roads. The first battle of the present campaign was fought at Montebello. The capital of Montebello is a small village of about 1,000 inhabitants. The battle was fought June 12th, 1859, on the plain of Montebello, within sight of the fortress of Alessandria. je25

Provisions—The market shows a declining tendency. Lard heavy and closed at a decline. Beef and pork quotations nominal. Pork dull, prices easier, but quotations unchanged.

Produce—Resin dull at 4s for common. Spirits Turpentine dull at 41s. Sugar firm, with a slight advance for all qualities. Coffee quiet. Rice dull.

LONDON MONEY MARKET, June 21.—The money market is heavy, owing to the increasing apprehensions of a general European war. Consols have undergone a partial relapse, but finally closed to-day at 93¾@93¾. American securities unchanged.

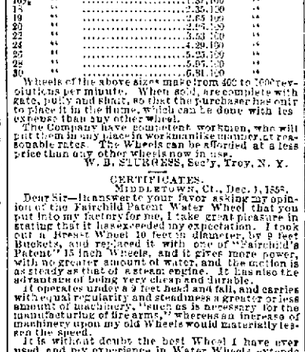
IMPORTANT NOTICE
—TO—
MILLWRIGHTS AND OWNERS.



The Excelsior Water Wheel Co.

ARE MANUFACTURING A NEW KIND of Water Wheel, patented 11th May, and 14th December, 1858, by J. H. Fairchild, of Vermont. It involves the principle of the Scotch Turbine Governor, and of controlling the water by which we obtain a greater maximum power than is afforded by any other wheel now in use. Some of the leading features of this Wheel are:

1st. We obtain the ENTIRE WEIGHT of the water, and have the advantage of the full head and fall, from water to water.

2d. It surpasses all other wheels in velocity and power.

3d. It is perfectly under the control of the workman, either by hand or by a light or heavy small amount of machinery, as the strength of the wheel is not diminished by reducing its motion, since it does precisely the same work with a small volume of water as with a large one, which always remains about the same.

4th. If occupies less by one third or one half than any other wheel—is placed inside the flume, near the STARAGE of the water, and is therefore safe from frost.

5th. The wheel is very durable, being made of iron, and can be put in at any place and attached to saw mills, flour mills, wood working machinery, with less expense than any other wheel. The velocity of the wheel is such that the expense of gearing up is avoided for most purposes.

Together with the advantages above stated, we are ready to warrant the Wheel to possess a power equal to the following figures, for about four feet fall of water:

Size of wheel.
12	"	2,100 horse-power.
18¾	"	4,700 "
12	"	900 "
18¾	"	1,100 "
15	"	1,400 "
16¾	"	1,700 "
18	"	2,000 "
20	"	2,500 "
22	"	3,000 "
24	"	3,500 "
26	"	4,200 "
27	"	5,000 "
28	"	5,500 "
30	"	6,000 "

Wheels of this above size made from 400 to 700 revolutions per minute. When ordered complete with gate, pulley and shaft, as that the purchaser has only to place it in the flume, which can be done with less expense than any other wheel.

The Company have competent workmen, who will put it in running order when required, at reasonable charges.

The Wheels can be afforded at a less price than any other wheels now in use.

W. B. CROSS, Secretary, Troy, N. Y.

CERTIFICATES.

MIDDLETOWN, Ct., Dec. 1, 1858.

Dear Sir—I answer to your favor asking my opinion of the Excelsior Water Wheel that you put into my factory for me, I take great pleasure in stating that it has exceeded my expectation. I took out a Burden's Wheel to put in the Excelsior, and I put Buckets, and replaced it with one of Fairchild's Patent 15 inch Wheels, and it gives more power with no more water in feet; it runs as steady as that of a steam engine. It has also the advantage of being very clean and durable.

I can speak in the highest of the ball, and carries with equal regularity and steadiness a greater or less amount of machinery, when as is necessary for the launching of vessels, whereas the Burden Wheel that you put into my old Wheels would materially injure the speed.

It is without doubt the best Wheel I have ever used, and my experience in Water Wheels extends over a period of 20 years. Any one in want of a Water Wheel will be convinced of its superiority, (however skeptical) if he will take the trouble of calling a my factory and see it in operation.

I am, yours, respectfully,
EDWARD SAVAGE.

Mr. Savage writes me again under date of Jan. 5th, 1859. The Wheel continues to perform entirely well, and I am more than pleased that I ever put it in. It has not caused us a moment's delay since you were here.

SHELDON, Franklin Co., Vt., June 29, 1858.

Dear Sir—I have one of Mr. Fairchild's Wheels in operation at my Machine Shop, which I can recommend to the public as being a good, durable wheel, possessing all the advantages which are claimed for it. The wheel which I am using is over my Buches in diameter. It is very simple in its construction, and runs more steady than the twelve feet Breast Wheel, which I have before used, requiring less water under the same head and fall.

H. CARLISLE.
